

84152

84153

84154

84155

84159

84160

84156

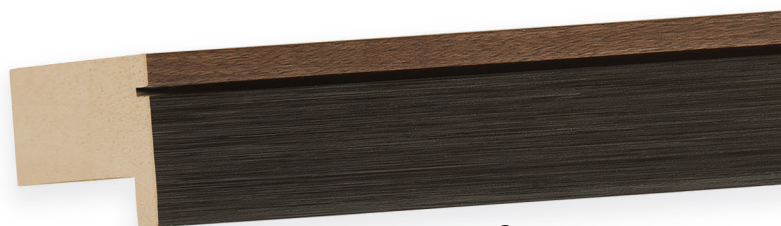

84157

84158

84161

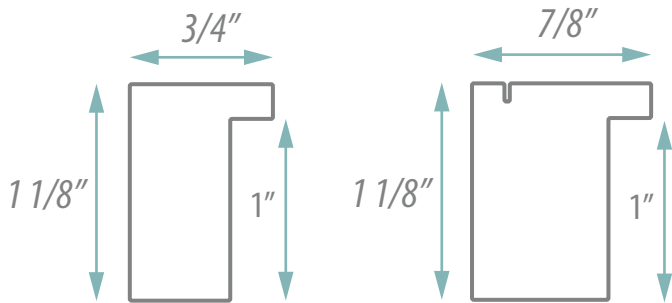

84162

KAJU

From the Japanese word for fruitwood, Kaju is a collection of 11 items referencing the combination of nature and simplicity in Japanese design. Fruitwood finishes such as pear wood, cherry, plum, and pecan are desirable for their fine, even grain, smooth texture and consistency, often used in today's fine furniture and cabinetry. The collection's clean lines and simple profiles work in harmony with the warm natural wood tones.

The fruitwood palette works well with a wide variety of art and color schemes for its ability to integrate with colorful art and neutral compositions. Kaju provides beautifully simple framing solutions for photography, watercolors, graphic art, drawings, and document framing.

Natural Attraction △

Color photography and natural subjects are perfect partners with the Kaju collection's warm yet subdued wood tones.

Photograph: Water Lilies

Maureen Klos, 2019

Modern Love ◁

Geometric lines paired with clean and consistent wood finishes are tailor-made framing applications for modern art, most recognized for its linear and graphic compositions.

Art: (Untitled)

Alexander Calder

Gouache and ink on paper, c.1963

Finishing Note □

Kaju's most significant asset is its consistent finish, most ideal for home "gallery wall" framing, art galleries, and interior designers looking for a unified scheme. This ensures the ability to add future framed pieces to their design with the same collection.